General OperaPassView Crack Mac is a lightweight utility created to help you retrieve passwords stored by the Opera web browser. Unlike other similar programs, it won't leave any traces behind, as it doesn't modify the Windows Registry. You can take the utility with you, anywhere you go. You can carry it on a portable flash drive and make it work in any machine you use. What's more, unlike similar programs, it doesn't require you to select the type of passwords, as it scans the wand.dat file stored in the browser's user profile. OperaPassView supports the following file formats: CSV, HTML, XML, and plain text. It provides you with a simple and clean interface. It's easy to use, and you can perform advanced operations with ease. Additionally, you can specify the wand.dat file location on your computer, or you can automatically detect it. Additionally, you can specify the wand.dat file location on your computer, or you can automatically detect it. Aside from supporting those formats, the utility is useful enough in that you can copy the information you want to the clipboard or directly to any plain text, CSV, or XML file. You can also perform a search, using a regular expression (which you can define). There are hotkeys for a better control of the process and the ability to refresh the information as you wish. In sum, this small utility is not really complex, and you should have no trouble in figuring out how to use it effectively. However, even though you can copy and paste the information manually, it's advisable to specify the file location manually. Other features You can specify the wand.dat file location manually. Since this is a portable program, it is important to mention that it doesn't leave any traces in the Windows Registry. You can copy it on any USB flash drive or other devices, and take it with you whenever you need to retrieve Opera passwords on the breeze, without having to go through installation steps. OperaPassView Crack Mac sports a clean and simple layout pointing out to the fact that the accent doesn't fall upon the looks of the tool but rather on its functionality. Basically, it proves to be extremely easy to work with this utility, as it automatically scans the Opera password file (wand.dat) and displays the information directly in the primary panel. The utility provides details about the URL, password type, username, password, username field, and password strength. What's more, you can copy data to the clipboard and paste it into other third-party applications, or save the passwords to plain text, HTML, CSV, or XML file format. Other important features worth mentioning are represented by the possibility to perform search operations, use hotkeys for a better control over the entire process, refresh the information, as well as manually specify the wand.dat file. Since there aren't any many dedicated parameters, even rookies can master the process with minimum effort. As it would be expected from such a small utility, it remains light on system resources, so it doesn't burden the overall performance of the computer, nor interfere with other programs' functionality.
